for all seasons and opportunities to fly fish, float, water ski, camp, hunt, hike, trail ride, bird watch, snowmobile, cross-country ski, snowshoe and just play in the great outdoors can appeal to the desires of any outdoor recreation enthusiast, regardless of age.

Palisades Reservoir's 64,000 acres of water surface additionally provides a scenic venue for sailing, boating, water skiing, jet skis, fishing for lake trout as well as ice fishing in the winter months.

The changing of the colors of the Quaking Aspen and Maple trees in the fall brings a splendid array of colors to the valley and the surrounding palisades. Artists frequently are seen with brushes in hand and easels placed throughout the region as they capture the breathtaking panoramas.

Over 400 miles of groomed snowmobile trails along the Snake River Road provide access to the winter wonderland of the Swan Valley region. Also available are areas up Pine Creek Pass for those sledders who want to venture off-trail and thrill for extreme snowmobiling in the back country.

Resort-style accommodations and a variety of restaurants, eateries and shops also are available year-round to meet the needs of tourists, trail riders and outdoor adventurers. For travelers who wish to venture beyond the valley to explore other nuggets in the region, Jackson Hole, home of the Grand Teton National Park and the world-famous Grand Teton Mountain Range, and adjoining Yellowstone National Park are a short drive away through majestic mountain passes.

NEWDALE

A Small Town With A Big History - by Phil Neibaur

Nestled spaciouly between the Bitterroot, Lemhi, Lost River and Pioneer Mountains on the North and West, and the Teton Mountains on the East, is the little farming village of Newdale.

Before the area was settled by the Mormon Pioneers, it was well used by the Indians and fur trappers as they traveled between the Snake River Valley on the West and the Teton River Valley on the East.

One of the last of the fur trappers, Beaver Dick, and his Indian wife are buried just three miles north of Newdale.

Newdale, as a town, actually came into existence late in the 1800's when the Union Pacific Railroad put in a line connecting Ririe on the South, with St. Anthony on the North. Where the railroad crossed Highway 33 the town of Newdale sprang up.

It was originally a thriving town with a chapel, school, bank, several stores, gas station and pool hall. But with the coming of oiled roads and great snow removal equipment, Newdale has become a bedroom community to the larger cities of Rexburg and St. Anthony.

Newdale has a country setting with great shopping, entertainment and work opportunities only fifteen minutes away. Newdale – zip code 83436 – proud to be part of "Small Town America."

REXBURG

Located on State Highway 33 just off of U.S. Highway 20 northeast of Idaho Falls.

From Island Park to Idaho Falls, from Teton Valley to Rexburg you will find an area called Yellowstone Teton Territory. This area is home to world-class fly-fishing, snowmobiling, a 41,000 acre sand dune, a drive-through bear and wolf park, an antique wooden carousel constructed in 1926, the Teton Flood Museum, the 114 foot-high Mesa Falls, and the Idaho International Folk Dance Festival – just to provide a sampling.
